About cookies

A cookie is a file containing an identifier (a string of letters and numbers) that is sent by a web server to a web browser and is stored by the browser on your computer, tablet, smartphone or any other similar device, with information on your browsing and use, like a tag that identifies your device. The identifier is then sent back to the server each time the browser requests a page from the server.

Managing cookies

Most browsers allow you to refuse to accept cookies and to delete cookies. The methods for doing so vary from browser to browser, and from version to version. You can however obtain up-to-date information about blocking and deleting cookies via these links:
